Pyne Cottage is a former residential dwelling plot extending to 0.16 ha / 0.4 acres, located on Spring Elms Lane, Little Baddow, offering far reaching views over the Chelmer valley.

DETAILS

DESCRIPTION

Pyne Cottage was a detached residential dwelling that burnt down in March 2008. The site has remained disused since.

The Vendor is now selling the property by auction subject to overage.

LOCATION

Little Baddow is a sought after picturesque village within easy reach of Chelmsford, the A12 and mainline stations. Spring Elms Lane runs east of the village along the edge of the Danbury escarpment with the site offering views north over the Chelmer valley.

TOWN PLANNING

Planning Permission will be required for the replacement / erection of a dwelling on this site.

The Local Planning Authority is Chelmsford City Council.

A Preliminary Ecological Assessment and Reptile Report were copies which, together with further information, including partial plans of the original dwelling, correspondence and aerial photos is contained in the legal pack available for download from the joint auctioneers.

SERVICES

Historically the site had a septic tank, mains water and electricity. Neither the Vendor nor agent can give any warranty as to the availability or suitability of these services. Purchasers must make their own inquiries of the relevant utility operators.

OVERAGE

The site is sold subject to an overage reserving a payment of £50,000 to the Vendors in the event that planning permission is secured for residential redevelopment within 15 years. The sum will be index linked and payment will be due upon implementation of the planning consent or sale of the property with the benefit of consent.
